

TEXAS EARLY MUSIC PROJECT

Texas Early Music Project (TEMP) is dedicated to preserving and advancing the art of Medieval, Renaissance, Baroque, and early Classical music through performance, recordings, and educational outreach.

TEMP's educational outreach is dedicated to bringing an appreciation of early music to as widely diverse an audience as possible. The primary resource supporting TEMP's educational programs is the Kerr Educational Outreach Fund (KEO Fund).

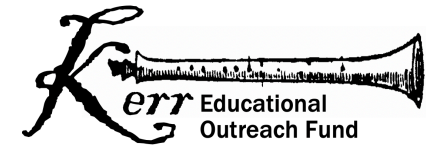

Established in 2013 as the Susan Anderson Kerr Scholarship, the fund initially provided season subscriptions for select students to attend TEMP's regular concert season performances.

More recently, the KEO Fund's focus has broadened to include a variety of education concerts and programs within Austin and Central Texas. Examples of programs the fund supports:

- Viol and recorder enrichment program for students at Texas School for the Blind and Visually Impaired
- Collaborative programming with college and universities
- Concerts and lectures at schools
- Concerts and lectures for seniors
- Free and discounted tickets for students and teachers to TEMP concerts

We're always looking for more opportunities to introduce teachers, students, and ... well, anyone, to their musical roots! To get more information about KEO Fund, please call (512) 377-6961 and leave a message, or email us at education@early-music.org.
